

Rides and Routes

Travel is a big part of life. In this data story, we look at different ways people get around, explore car sales, break down road trip costs, and highlight popular travel destinations in the US.

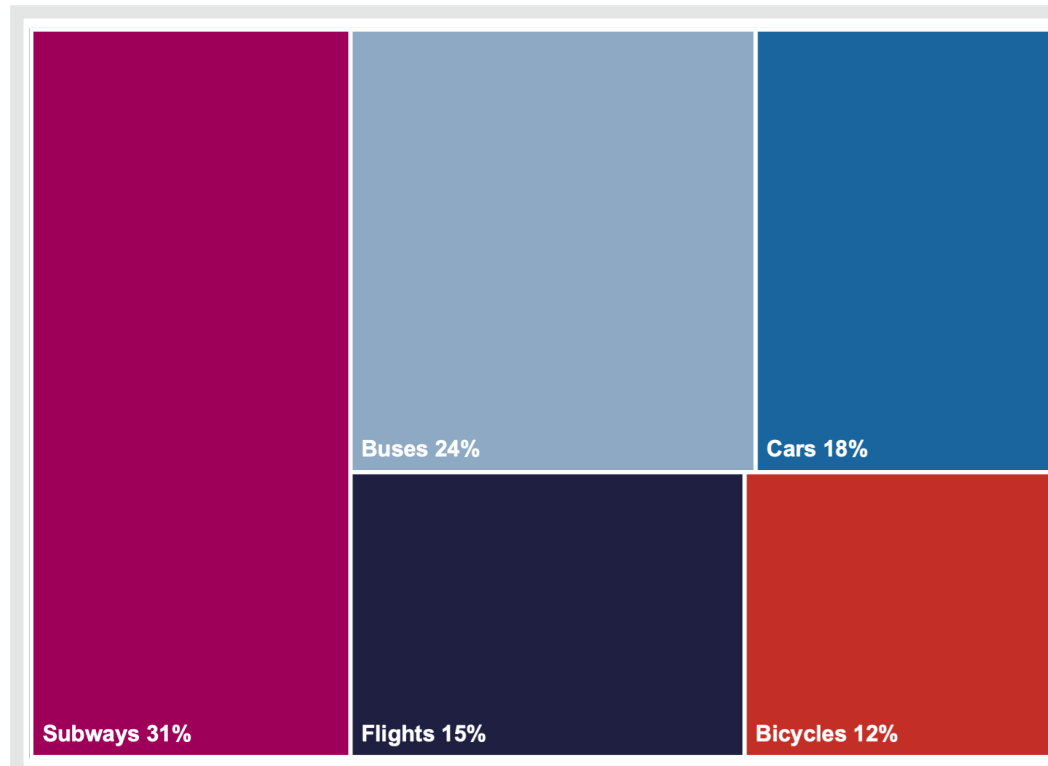

I'm planning a trip this summer.

That sounds awesome! I can show you some data to help with planning.

1

Top 5 Popular Modes of Transportation

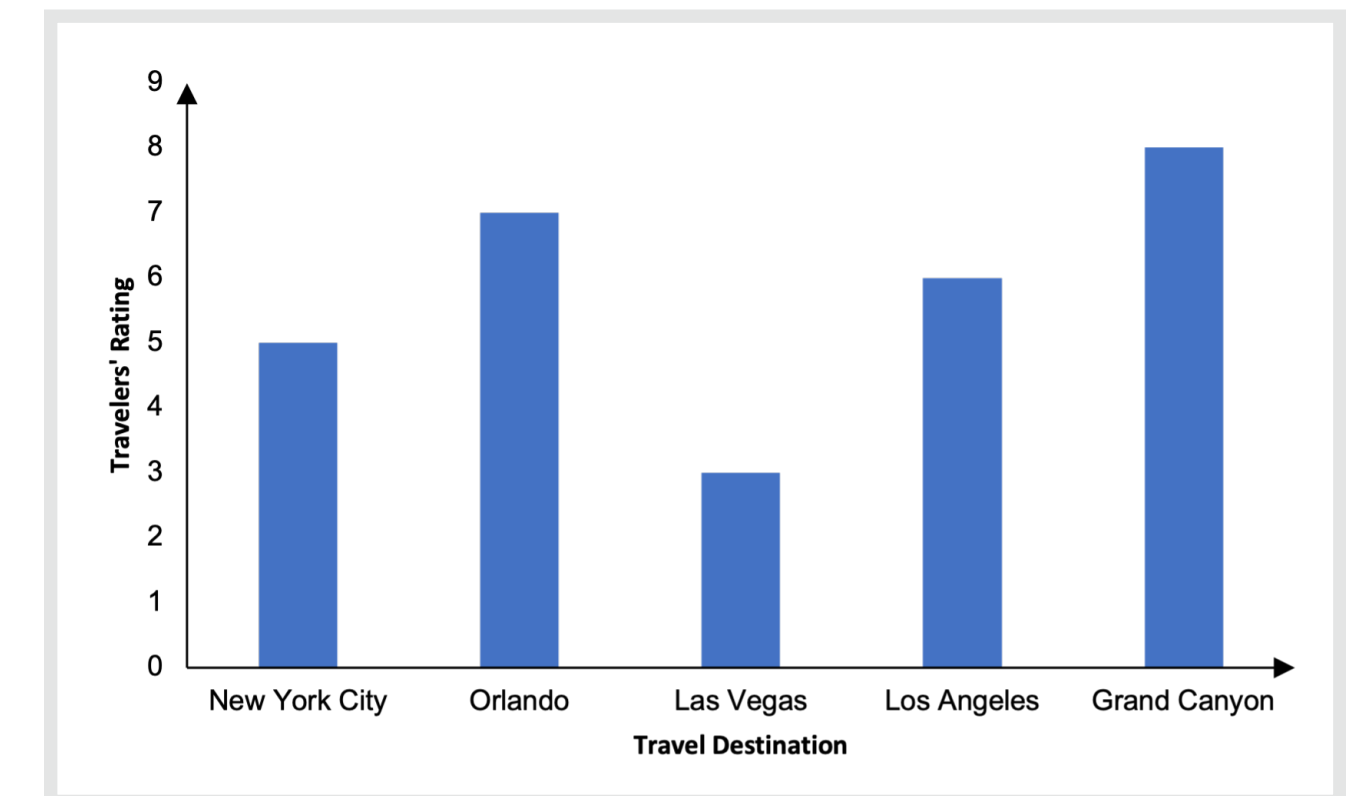

Subways are the most popular modes of transportation, while bicycles are the least.

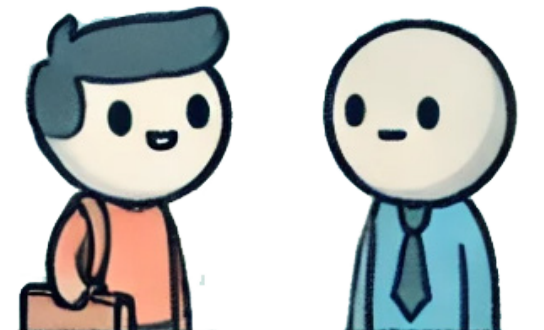

2

Americans' Favorite Destinations

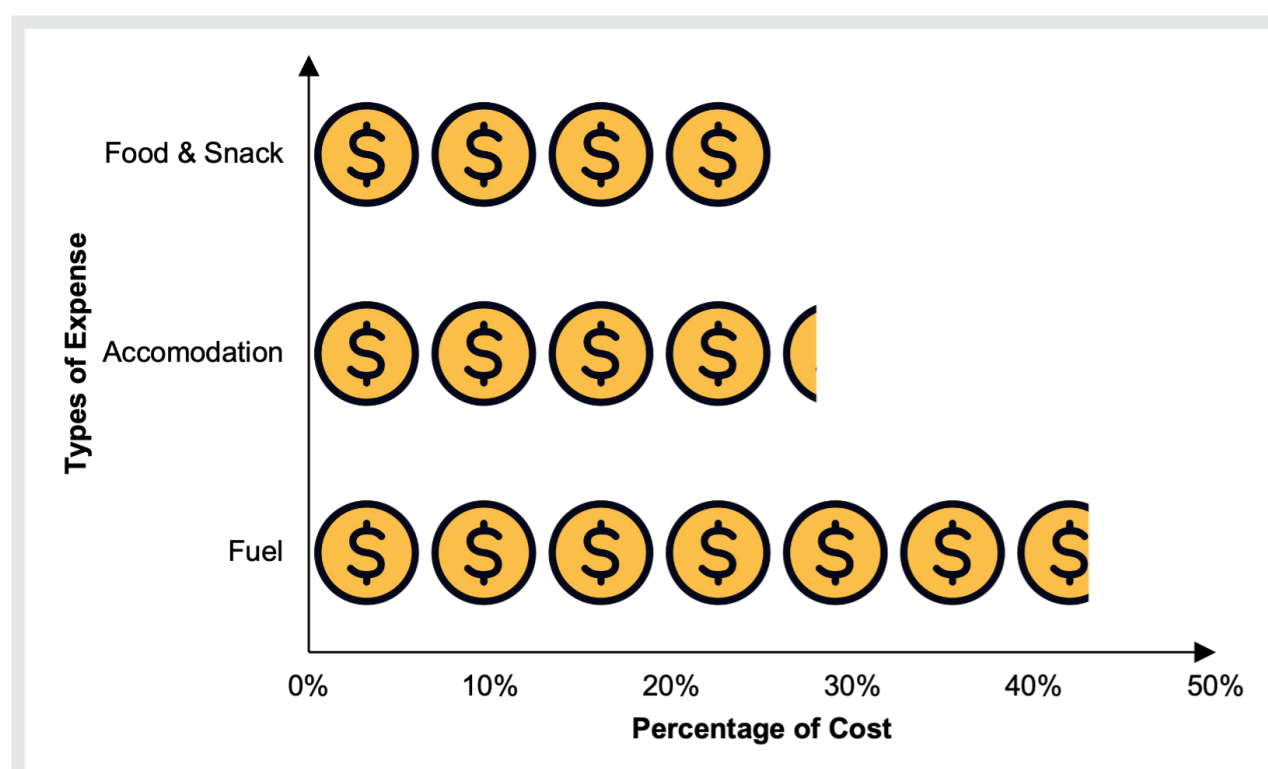

Grand Canyon is Americans' favorite destination, with Orlando and Los Angeles close behind.

3

Cost Breakdown of A Road Trip

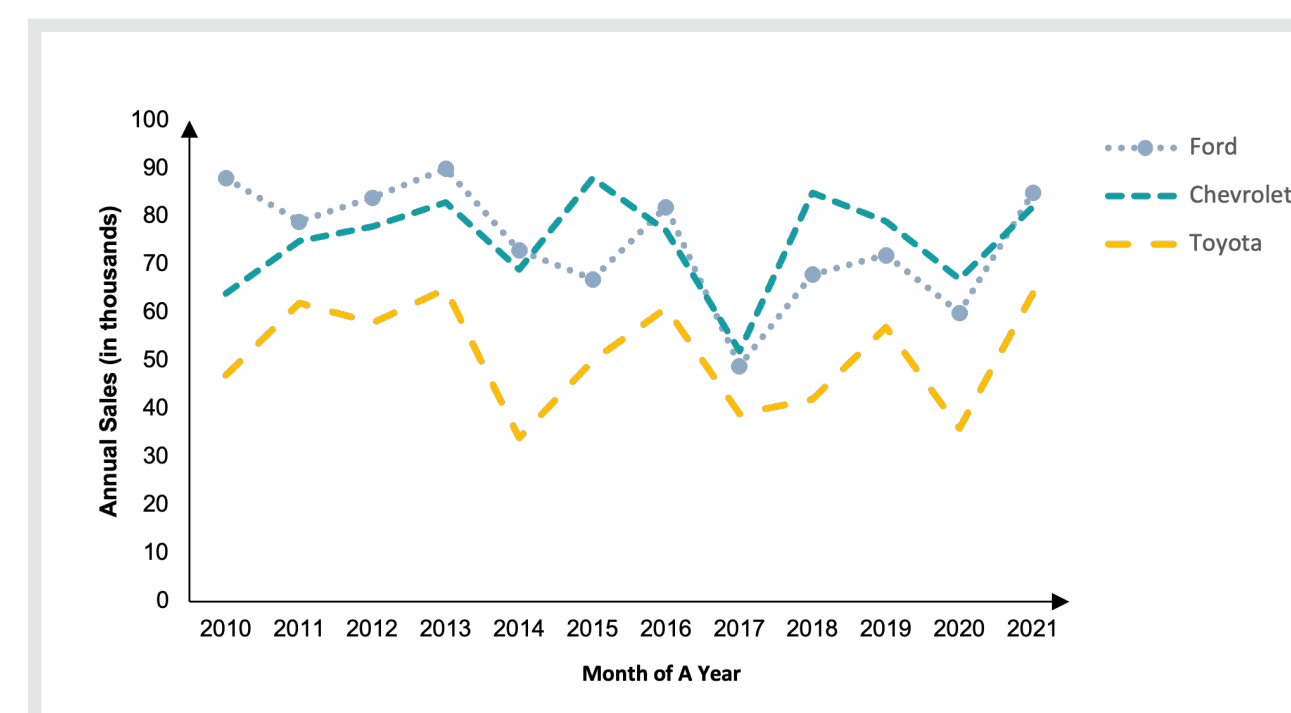

Fuel is the biggest expense on a road trip, followed by accommodation, then food and snacks.

4

Yearly Sales of Top Car Brands

In 2017, Ford's sales dropped due to a shift in consumer preference toward SUVs and electric vehicles. Toyota has lower overall sales because its models are more expensive than similar ones from Ford and Chevrolet.

Thanks, this is so helpful. This will make my trip so much easier!

Just remember, the best road trips always include a few surprise detours and plenty of snacks.
